Description:

The volume will focus on experimental designs that investigate second language acquisition using methods from various fields. These fields include, but are not limited to, psychology, neuroscience, education, biology, sociology, language pathology, and computer science.

About the Editor:

Dr George Georgiou is a tenure-track Full-Time Faculty Member in Linguistics at the Department of Languages and Literature of the University of Nicosia, Cyprus, and he is the coordinator of the Cyprus Linguistics and the Humanities Research Group. He has previously worked as a Postdoctoral Researcher and Assistant Lecturer in the Department of General and Russian Linguistics of the Peoples' Friendship University of Russia, as a Postdoctoral Researcher at the Department of Rehabilitation Science of Cyprus University of Technology, and as an Associate Lecturer in the Division of Linguistics of the University of Central Lancashire, UK. His research interests lie in the areas of phonetics, phonology, psycholinguistics, and second language acquisition. Dr Georgiou's work has appeared in various high-impact, international journals, and he is the author of two monographs. He has twice received the Research Recognition Award from the University of Nicosia, and he has won three research grants. His work has also appeared in the reputable American magazine Forbes (2020) and has been covered by the Canadian national public broadcaster CBC (2021).

Submission Requirements:

Chapters should be between 4000 and 6000 words, excluding references.

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>.

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago style.

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions, and a statement should be submitted in support of this.

Contributions should be scholarly based, rather than anecdotal or unverifiable.

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices, and short extracts for translation.

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full copyediting services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.

How to Submit?

You should submit to the Editor a completed proposal form, alongside a copy of your work for their review. This submission should be made directly to the address at the top of this page.

If you have any questions about the collection, prior to your submission, please contact the Editor.

Timeline:

The deadline for chapter submission is June 30 2021. Feedback will be given by the end of July 2021.

All works should be submitted to the Editor, at the address provided at the top of this document.

The Editor will review these personally to consider their inclusion in the work. Should the Editor approve the chapters, you will then be asked to complete an agreement for the publication of these chapters. It is essential that this agreement is completed in order for your work to be printed.

Once the Editor has approved the chapter, and has received your contributor agreement, these will then be sent to Cambridge Scholars as a complete collection for pre-press reviews and publication. As such, it is essential that the work you submit to the Editor is finalised and has been thoroughly proofread.
