

Cosmologies: How We Think of the World as We Know It

Collection Editor: Frédéric Le Blay

Description

This collection aims at questioning our past, present and future relationship to environment or nature by addressing issues related to “cosmologies”. What do myths, imagination or philosophy tell about Nature? How do we think of our place in nature? Are we facing a major paradigmatic change within a global and anthropocenic world?

About the Editor

Frédéric Le Blay is both a classicist and a philosopher who specialized in the philosophy of science applied to ancient worlds. Focusing on medicine as well as cosmologies and meteorology, his research is related to the global perspective of environmental anthropology.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, ‘ready-to-go’ form.
