

Cultural Diversity in Intercultural (Cross-cultural) Communication: Global Case Studies

Collection Editor: Tamilla Mammadova

Description

The 21st century is marked by intense movement of people across international borders. While English is used as a common language, the nuances of communications may vary from culture to culture. This series is to understand how misperception of cultural values and norms may result in misapprehension, understatement and communication breakdowns.

About the Editor

Dr. Tamilla Mammadova is an assistant professor at ADA University, Baku. She holds a PhD from the University of Santiago de Compostela, Spain, where she is a member of SPERTUS research group. Dr. Mammadova conducted her post-doctoral research at the University of Fribourg, Switzerland. Her publications include a number of research papers, books and a monograph.

Submission Requirement

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.

You can view open projects at the link below:

<https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/guest-edited-collections>

