Collection Editor: Elena Arsenteva

Description

The book is devoted to the problems of discoursal use of phraseological units. Both core use and contextual use of phraseological units are under study as well as different types of PU modifications: addition, deletion, substitution, phraseological reiteration, cleft use, phraseological pun, extended metaphor, phraseological saturation of discourse. The ways of translation of these modifications present a very serious problems, so some chapters of the book will be devoted to this problem.
