

English in Non-English-speaking Countries: Practices, Perceptions, Challenges and Perspectives

Collection Editor: Marjana Vaneva

Description

Living in a modern world, and being surrounded by the newest advances in technology, today's English language teachers see the process of learning English as a completely different one compared to time when they learnt it themselves, while linguists proudly witness the different usage of the language that portrays the playful nature of English, supported by its creative speakers and users of the language.

About the Editor

Professor Marjana Vaneva is a graduate teacher of English with a MA and PhD degrees in English Linguistics, who teaches English grammar subjects to university students, and researches in the domain of English linguistics, semantics, contrastive analysis, and English language teaching. She has authored a book on zero derivation, several book chapters and more than 30 articles.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.

You can view open projects at the link below:

<https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/guest-edited-collections>

