

Genealogy and Social History in World History: Enriching the Understanding of the Past Through Family Case Studies

Collection Editor: Eric Martone

Description

In recent years, genealogical websites and government agencies have made millions of valuable historical documents digitally available to the public. There is a tremendous amount of information that can be gleaned from these documents to aid scholars interested in social history. This edited collection will allow researchers to present historically researched and contextualized family case studies as a lens to enrich our understanding of the past.

About the Editor

Eric Martone is Associate Professor of History/Social Studies Education and Interim Dean of the School of Education at Mercy College in New York. He completed his PhD in history at Stony Brook University.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.

You can view open projects at the link below:

<https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/guest-edited-collections>

