

Investigations on Factors Affecting L2 Perception and Production

Collection Editor: Ying Li

Description

This book collects studies on adults' L2 perception and production. With different approaches, the studies range laboratory settings to real classroom settings. Pedagogical implications are offered at the end of each chapter. This collection will help establish commonalities across research areas and facilitate better practice in adult L2 acquisition.

About the Editor

Dr. Ying Li is an Associate Professor in the Foreign Language School at Southwest University of Political Science and Law. Dr. Li completed her Ph.D in Linguistics at the University of Newcastle Upon Tyne. Her research interests mainly lie in the area of second language acquisition.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.

You can view open projects at the link below:

<https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/guest-edited-collections>

