

Lokabasa Nusantara: Oral Traditions in Insular Southeast Asia

Collection Editor: Aone van Engelenhoven

Description

The Old-Javanese-Sanskrit term Nusantara - translatable as 'among the islands' - nowadays refers to the whole territory of insular Southeast Asia and reflects the region's enormous indigenous and imported linguistic and cultural diversity. This volume addresses this diversity by highlighting theoretical, descriptive and practical issues in its oral tradition research.

About the Editor

Aone van Engelenhoven teaches Southeast Asian Linguistics at Leiden University where he obtained his PhD degree in 1995 on a description of the Leti language (Southwest Maluku, Indonesia). He has written on several languages in Indonesia and East Timor and specializes in oral tradition, specifically oral narrative and poetry.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.
