

Multilingualism: Aspects of Acquisition, Learning, Space, Language Policies

Collection Editor: Fotini Anastassiou

Description

Multilingualism is nowadays a very common phenomenon all over the world. Investigating the different dimensions of multilingualism, the individual and the societal ones, can lead to a better understanding of the learning processes as well as the diverse needs and identities that multilinguals bring to the picture.

About the Editor

Fotini Anastassiou is an adjunct lecturer of Linguistics at the Hellenic Open University and has taught at the University of Athens. She holds a Ph.D. in Applied Linguistics from the University of Thessaly, an MA in Translation from the University of Surrey and a BA (Hons) in Linguistics from the University of Hertfordshire.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.
