

Political Warfare in the Age of Social Media: War by Other Means

Collection Editor: Erwin J. Warkentin

Description

This collection reveals how propaganda and political warfare have shaped our thinking in the Electronic Age. As JFC Fuller predicted, we no longer reach for coal and steel, because the battlefield is now the mind and imagination and regulated by the electronic pulse of social media.

About the Editor

Dr. Erwin J. Warkentin has published on the impact of media and propaganda on European society and its politics after WWII. He has also served as a consultant in the use of Social Media in communication and teaching and how it is employed to overtly and covertly disseminate ideologies.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.
