

The Rise and Rise of Heroic Romance

Collection Editor: Lynn Forest-Hill

Description

Heroic romance has, from the twelfth century at least, influenced storytelling in many languages, and continues in new forms, frequently encoding cultural and political change. This book explores new perceptions of its range and significance.

About the Editor

After completing her PhD at Southampton University, Lynn Forest-Hill taught medieval and renaissance studies at the same institution until retiring to write. Her publications include work on Tolkien and a limited edition translation of Sir Bevis of Hampton.

Submission Requirements

All chapters submitted should conform to the grammar and formatting guidelines provided by Cambridge Scholars Publishing, which can be viewed here: <https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/forms-guidelines>;

Unless agreed with the Editor prior to submission, referencing should be in Chicago;

Any work submitted for publication should be free of copyright restrictions and a statement should be submitted in support of this;

Contributions should be scholarly rather than anecdotal or unverifiable;

Contributions must be wholly in English, excluding footnotes, appendices and short extracts for translation;

While we will perform pre-press evaluations on the collection, we do not provide full proofreading services, so we ask that works are submitted to us in their final, 'ready-to-go' form.

You can view open projects at the link below:

<https://www.cambridgescholars.com/pages/guest-edited-collections>

